AN IMPORTANT NEW WORK ON PATENTS

Macomber ^{on} the Fixed Law of Patents

If you look in this work for the answer to a question of patent law upon which a court of last resort has passed judgment, you will find it, and know it is fixed law, what court announced it, who wrote the opinion, on what citations the ruling was founded, whether any member (and who) dissented.

The arrangement is such that a point of law may be located generally, and found specifically without undue waste of time. The classification and arrangement are the result of actual practice, the author having used the greater part of the work in active practice for fifteen years, revising it as necessary from time to time. The references are to all of the standard reports, and no rule is stated on the authority of a court of original jurisdiction, as law by adoption is not fixed law. The syllabi of the reporters and digesters have been wholly disregarded.

THE FIXED LAW OF PATENTS, as established by the Supreme Court of the United States and the nine Circuit Courts of Appeals. By WILLIAM MACOMBER, 8vo. 1060 pages. Law canvas. $7.50 net.
